BALM OF COLUMBIA.
An important recent Chemical discovery.
This ladies and gentlemen of this city and elsewhere, are respectfully informed, that John Oldridge has fortunately discovered, by the power of chemistry, the grand desideratum of preventing Hair from falling off in FORTY-EIGHT HOURS. This balm will most absolutely, in the course of a short time, make the Hair grow as thickly and thick. It is well aware that many fraudulent and imposture Oils, &c. have been imposed on the public, and therefore prejudice will be severe against his discovery, until trial shall convince his patrons that such a thing exists in nature as a certain preventive against the loss of hair. This valuable balm will cause whiskers and beards to grow rapidly. No danger need be apprehended to the human system by the application of this capillary restorative. The public may rest assured that it is perfectly safe, and is perfectly harmless.
Persons desirous of becoming agents for the sale of the Balm of Columbia, will please address the proprietor by letter, (post paid,) with a suitable reference.
Prepared and sold, at $1 a pint, or 50 cents for a half pint bottle, by JOHN OLDIDGE, No. 55 1/2 South Front Street, and at No. 11 North Fourth Street, Philadelphia.

RECOMMENDATION.
We, the undersigned, do hereby certify, that we have, in various cases, used the Balm of Columbia, lately discovered by John Oldridge, of Philadelphia, and have found it highly serviceable not only as a preventive against the falling off of hair, but also as a restorative. We, therefore, feel assured of its excellence, and consider it valuable and well worthy the attention of the public. In testimony whereof, we have added our respective signatures, and given it our warmest recommendation.

Foreign Intelligence.
By the Cincinnati, arrived at New York.
Ireland.—Fresh outrages continued to be committed in this unhappy country.—The insurgents attacked the mail coach on its way from Waterford to Limerick—there were two gentlemen and Miss Wilson, the celebrated singer, and Miss Ryan, passengers—the latter was carried off, but no other violence was used, nor was any attempt made to plunder the coach or passengers. Miss Ryan, was on her way to prosecute a man who had attempted to force her into a marriage, and who was in prison for the offence—she was carried off with a view of preventing her evidence, in which, however, the friends of the accused were defeated, as the young lady was fortunately rescued by a detachment of troops. A man named O'Neill, who had given evidence against the White Boys, was murdered, and his body found under a heap of stones. The criminal Calendar of Cork amounts to the number of three hundred and fifty.
Sir Samuel Achmuty, is to assume the command of the military forces in Ireland.
Scotland.—The Edinburgh Advertiser gives different accounts of the causes which led to the late duel between Sir Alexander Boswell and Mr. Stuart, from which it appears that Sir A. B. was the aggressor—the first named gentleman died of his wounds on the 27th of March. Mr. Stuart has given notice that he is ready to appear and stand his trial whenever called upon.

France.—On the authority of the Nantes Journal, it is stated, that 25 officers of different ranks, have been arrested at Rochelle, in consequence of the information given by some of their associates in the plot. No further circumstances have yet transpired to determine its extent or its precise objects.
The affair at Rome is of a more serious nature than was at first apprehended, and the arrest of twenty-five officers of different grades furnished proof that the plot to overthrow the present government was very extensive.

Turks and Greeks.—Advices from Trieste, under date of the 13th of March have been received in London, the contents of which, if true, are important. They represent that the Turkish and Greek fleets had come to an action, in which the former have been defeated with the loss of 25 vessels, of the class of transport ships. The account rests on the authority of the commander of a vessel arrived at Trieste, who declared that he was an eye-witness of the engagement, which was fought on the 3d ult. The Greeks, it is said, had 75 sail, and the Turks only 60; and among those were no ships of war of the first class.

Rejoicing had taken place at Constantinople, on account of the birth of a boy, of whom one of the Sultanas had just been delivered. Circumstantial accounts of the death of Ali Pacha, were again reiterated, and a letter from Constantinople of the 25th of February, says, his head was exhibited on the gate of the Seraglio, on the 24th, were it was to remain for three days.

It is confidently stated, in the higher political circles, that a treaty has been, or is about to be, concluded between this country and Denmark, by which the important fortress of the Sound is to be garrisoned by British troops, as soon as the first gun shall be fired by Russia against Turkey! If this account be correct, and of which we have no doubt, although we did not obtain it from an official source, it is of the highest importance, as Russia and her allies the Prussians will be thus prevented from sending even a boat through the Sound.—This treaty adds much credit to the diplomatic talent of our noble secretary for foreign affairs, and may account for our sending the order of the garter to the King of Denmark.

A Turk in England.—Aupé, the Turk, who appeared as prosecutor at the Maidstone Assizes, last week, against certain persons for robbing him, was a young man of very fine and expressive countenance, and with all the energy and vivacity so natural to Asiatics. The manner in which he gave his testimony was a most pleasing display of expressive action and change of countenance. It was a fine study for an actor. His story could be read in his action. When he was sworn, he took, with every appearance of profound veneration, his Alcoran from his bosom. It was carefully enveloped in a long piece of silk. An officer was about to take the book from his hand, when the believer in Mahomet displayed great agitation. The bare idea of the holy volume being defiled by the hand of a Christian seemed to fill him with horror.—Blood rushed into his cheeks, his eyes flashed fire, and he evinced the most strong marks of indignation. His attitude, the peculiarity of his dress, and the other circumstances of his situation, threw around him an interest which was extremely gratifying to an attentive observer. The gestures of the indignant Musselman were understood, and his book remained untouched by the hands of unbelievers. When he was desired by the interpreter to swear, he lifted his eyes towards Heaven, with a solemn seriousness, as if to address a short and silent prayer to Alla, after which he opened his Alcoran, put it to his lips, then to his forehead, and lastly above his head. To judge from appearances, he seemed to be most seriously impressed with a sense of the solemnity of his appeal to the prophet, to witness the truth of the circumstances he was about to detail. When informed of the result of the trial, he evinced great satisfaction.

The celebrated picture of Napoleon Buonaparte, by Leffevre, was sold in London by Mr. George Robins, for 340 guineas, to Lord Grosvenor.

Extract of a letter from an officer on board the frigate Constellation, dated

VALPARAISO, Oct. 9th, 1821.
"Lima is yet in possession of the patriots, although the Royalists have in a manner relieved Callao, the sea-port. Pezueli, the ex-vice-king, escaped in the American ship General Brown, of New-York. I had an opportunity of seeing him before his departure. He appears to be about sixty-two, and, although a little bent, is still vigorous in his features, which are harsh, but possess sufficient animation, when lighted up by any thing that interests him. He would, in fact, form a fine subject for the physiognomist. He is an active and intelligent man, and has been a famous warrior in his day.

The Blue Beard of these parts, the infamous Benevides, who deserves every epithet of disgrace that can be heaped upon him—who has been once executed and left upon the field for dead as a traitor—actuated by a piratical and revengeful spirit worthy of a demon, after committing the most barbarous excesses on vessels of all nations, plundering and murdering their captains, and forcing their crews into his service, has at length, as report says, been joined by the Araucanians, a brave and independent nation of warriors, never yet subdued by the Spaniards, and taken Concepcion, the third city in importance belonging to the Chilean Republic. The account adds, that he is now in full march for St. Jago, the capital, although he can never accomplish his object. The Island of Juan Fernandez, alias Robinson Crusoe's Isle, is peopled by a colony from this place, the governor of which has had the boldness and temerity to detain 13 men and two boats belonging to an American whaler.—They say he also attempted by finesse, to capture the brig.

"We shall, probably, as soon as we are provisioned, visit the Island, investigate the proceedings, and punish the author of the outrage.
"In five or six weeks we sail again to leeward."

ERUPTION OF MOUNT VESUVIUS.

Mount Vesuvius which had been for several months in a state of total inaction, on Friday, the 22d February, showed signs of renewed vigour; on the following night it was in a very great activity, and on Sunday night (the 24th Feb.) the volcano exhibited a very grand eruption. A broad stream of lava descended the cone, and seemed to turn off in an angle, and run down the mountain towards Resina and Portici; the flames above the crater were lofty and continued; an unremitting discharge of fiery masses, which were thrown up in the air to a great height, issued from the mouth, and the groans of the mountain were heard in Naples like distant thunder. About ten o'clock on that evening the view from the city was particularly striking—the wide river of fire ran on in majestic slowness; innumerable pale torches were seen coasting its sides, on which some bold and curious persons seemed every now and then to be treading; the flames were reflected across the bay, and threw a strong glare on the buildings and on the faces of thousands of spectators, who had gathered on the Molo, Santa Lucia, and other open places, to gaze at the magnificent conflagration.

Gambling in the Stocks.—United States' Bank Stock, which, since the origin of the Bank, seems to have been the special aim and prey of jobbers and gamblers, was yesterday sold at 98, having fallen in one day 8 per cent, and, since a month or six weeks, from 115—and all this without any sort of relation to the real and fair value of the stock, but simply from the nature of the contracts entered into for its sale or purchase. All this is well enough understood here in this city, but our country readers, and those out of the state, might, without some explanation, suppose that a real depreciation had occurred in the Stock.

The truth is, that from the great abundance of unemployed capital floating in our market during the past summer, a vast amount of U. S. Bank Stock was purchased on speculation, chiefly by the brokers, in the hopes of a rise; and money borrowed, at a low interest, on a hypothecation of it, to enable the purchasers to pay for it. The revival of commerce in part, the excessive importations in a greater degree, having increased the demand for money; the loans on Bank Stock are required to be paid as they fall due, and in order to pay them, the Stock is thrown into a market now as bare of money as before it was redundant of it, and sold for what it will bring. The market being thus overstocked, the price naturally falls, and the sales being imperative, it falls even lower than, notwithstanding the glut, it should do.

From the New London Advocate.

Serious Joke.—A gentleman from one of the back towns in this state, relates the following circumstances, which took place recently:—A party of young people had collected together one evening for amusement, when it was proposed by some of them to couple themselves, and go to a young Justice and be married. This it was thought would be fine fun, and a clever joke on the young 'squire. All was ready in a twinkling, and the company marched off—some of the old damsels led off with great glee young beardless youths of fourteen—and all soon appeared before the 'squire. The justice was young, he understood his duty, and married them in due form. He immediately complained of himself to the proper authority for a breach of the law, which provides that the intention of the parties shall be published previous to marriage. The consequence is, that the whole is legally married.

MIRROR OF LIFE.

TO SHew THE VERY AGE AND BODY OF THE TIMES, ITS FOEN AND PRESSURE.

Capt. Partlow of the schr. Three Sisters, in 16 days from Lagaira, informs that Porto Cabello was still held by the Royalists—that the Patriot fleet was expected, which would co-operate with the land forces, and that a rigorous blockade would then take place.—American produce very low.

Capt. Hutchinson, arrived at Baltimore, in 10 days from Port au Prince, states that the British sloop of war Carnation arrived there from Jamaica, with despatches for President Boyer, which were immediately forwarded to him at the Cape, under an escort of Dragons. In consequence of the difficulties in the eastern part of the Island, an embargo was laid on Port au Prince, which lasted nearly forty days.

The Treasurer of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, acknowledges the receipt of $264 35, for their Theological Seminary, at Princeton, during the month of April last.

The corporation of New Orleans offer $3,50, for each and every ton of good paving stone brought to that port from the 1st of May, 1822, to the 1st of May, 1823.

Fire.—The store of Mr. Z. Mead, of Amitytown, Warwick, (N. Y.) was lately destroyed by fire, and all its contents, consisting of dry goods and groceries, to the value, of three thousand dollars; about one thousand dollars worth of which Mr. M. had received from New-York only a few hours before the fire broke out.

Court Martial.—The Court Martial lately sitting at Boston, suspended Captain John Shaw for six months; a sentence which has since been approved by the President of the United States.

On Friday week, Samuel Green, a native of New-Hampshire, aged 24, was executed at Boston for the murder of a negro, Billy Williams.

Small Pox.—Between 30 and 40 persons are afflicted with the small pox in the small village of Fraystown, (Pa.) which contains about 200 inhabitants.

An Incurable Thief.—The Nantucket Inquirer of the 25th inst. notices an instance of incurable thievery seldom equalled. A sloop at that town was broken open and robbed of different articles of clothing, &c. Three persons were arrested on suspicion, a waistcoat being found upon one of them (a woman) who, while the others were under examination, stole a gown from the adjoining room.

Destruction of Squirrels.—The Piquette Gazette of March 28, states, that four thousand two hundred and seventy one of these animals were destroyed in that county in three days' hunting. The Dayton paper mentions that one thousand squirrels were shot in that neighborhood on the 29th ult.

New England Enterprise.—The Winchester (Va.) Republican, of the 20th instant, mentions the arrival in that village of a wagon drawn by ten yoke of oxen, under the command of Mr. Roswell Brown, of Berkshire, Mass. on his way to Greenbriar, (Va.) to assist in making a new turnpike. The team, including the wagon, was upwards of 100 feet long, and the load weighed near five tons. It had been three weeks on the road, averaging twenty miles per day.

It is asserted that while the Haydn Society of Cincinnati were lately performing Handel's celebrated Hailstone Chorus, a violent storm of hail, wind, thunder and lightning arose, which completely accorded with the words and music of the chorus.—The effect is said to have been awfully grand.

At a trial in Jefferson county, Virginia, Abraham Stip, was amerced in the sum of $892 for the seduction of Nancy Martin.

A negro man was killed by lightning on Tuesday, 17th April, at Savannah, during a thunder storm.

Plagiarism.—A new made justice of the peace in Dearborn county, Indiana, lately published an address to his constituents, the whole of which consisted of the first part of Mr. Barbour's speech to the House of Representatives of the U. States, on being elected Speaker of that body, at the commencement of the present session.

Caution.—A daughter of Capt. Frink Lovell, of Putney, only 11 years of age, was accidentally shot on the 3d instant, by a young man who snapped a gun presented towards her, not supposing it to be loaded. It unhappily, however, proved to be charged with shot, which entered a limb of the child near the hip.—She languished for forty-eight hours and expired, after having manifested uncommon fortitude during her sufferings; and when amputation of the wounded limb was proposed by her mother, she replied, "Dear mother, I shall live my appointed time, and do let me go altogether." Will nothing serve as a caution against the improper use of fire arms?

Fire.—Two other fires, supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, were lately discovered at Canandaigua; and two persons of suspicious character, are stated to have been arrested at the time, and after undergoing an examination, committed for trial. One of them a young man named McCumber, is said to be an old offender.

The Cadiz (Ohio) Telegraph, speaking of some of the blunders committed by the Legislature of that state, and also of its approaching extra session, recommends that they have an extra session annually, for the purpose of correcting the blunders of their regular session.

An old Indian was lately mortally wounded on Point Frederick, (near Kingston, U. C.) in a drunken quarrel, by one of his fellows, who shattered the skull of the unfortunate man with an axe. The offender has been committed to goal.

The Louisville Morning Post of the 16th April, states, that on that day 2050 dollars in Commonwealth (State Bank of Kentucky) paper had been paid for one thousand specie dollars!!!

An inquest was held on the 29th inst. at New-York, on the body of John Miller, a coloured man, a native of Philadelphia, aged 35 years. He was found floating in the river, and the verdict of the jury was, that he came to his death by accidental drowning. He was recognized by his wife, mother and others, and had been missing about five months.

Charlemagne, it is said, was entombed in a sitting posture, with a crown on his head and a sceptre in his hand. The notions of some men in our own days seem equally fantastical, as a proof of which may be produced an article in an English paper, in which it is stated, that the late Dr. Henry of Wallinford, was buried in his gowns and bands, with his hair powdered, a wig in one hand, and a book in the other.

Support of the Poor.—The State of Connecticut contracted with an extensive farmer for the support of the State Poor, at a reduced price per head, and he was to make what he could of their labour. Not one, we are told, would consent to be supported on such terms—and, of course, did without support.

Another fact.—A gentleman living in a part of New-York, much frequented by beggars, took care every year to purchase very large tough logs, for his fire-wood; he could not get it saved by common ways, and usually stored it; when any one was able to work asked his charity, he would in reply, offer work on his wood, and wages; he found few who would not take their chance at starving rather than accept a charity like that he offered.

Odd way of testifying pleasure.—I was at Brescia, in 1790," says a late writer, "a man of all Italy perhaps the most affected by music. He passed his life in hearing it, when it pleased him, he shifted off his shoes without being aware of it; and if the music was carried to its height he was accustomed to throw them over his head upon the spectators."

JOHN HOLKAR, Esq. who contracted at Paris with Dr. Franklin, during the American revolution, to furnish the United States with a large supply of clothing and arms, and was subsequently the French Consul General in this country, died last week at Winchester, Va. where he had lived in retirement for the last 30 years. His father was an adherent of the Pretender, and fled with his prince to France after the disastrous rebellion of 1745, taking with him the subject of this note, who was then an infant.

A gentleman lately returned to New-York, in the ship James Monroe, from Liverpool, after an absence of only forty-nine days, having in the mean time transacted important business in London.

Despatch.—The intelligence brought by the London Packet Ship, Cincinnati, was published in Washington city on the 30th of April. The English paper was of the evening of the 1st of April, and news was therefore published within twenty-nine days, both at the seat of the British and American governments.

A New Orleans paper of the 17th ult. states, that the gin-house of Dr. Keen, of Natchez, was struck by lightning on the 10th. April, and 120 bales of cotton were consumed, nearly all the doctor's crop.

CONGRESS.

In the course of the debate, says the National Intelligencer, on Thursday last, on the appropriation for carrying into effect the article of the treaty with Spain which relates to boundary, it was stated by Mr. Tucker, of Virginia, from authority which he relied upon, that a Minister had been appointed from Mexico to this country, who might be expected to arrive in the United States within three weeks.

On Monday last, the senate of the U. States concurred with the president, and house of representatives, in recognizing the independence of the government of South America.

The Senate on Monday gave its assent to the bill appropriating $100,000 to defray the expence of Missions to the Spanish American governments.

Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb.—A keen contest took place at Philadelphia on Wednesday, on the election held for Directors, &c. of this Institution. Two tickets were offered; the one on the ground that Mr. Seixas had been unjustly removed from the management of the school, and the other on the principal that he had been properly removed. The ticket opposed to Mr. S. succeeded by a large majority. As we know something of Mr. Seixas, and have strong reasons for believing that his removal was not justified by the circumstances of the case, we regret the issue of this election. The true interests of benevolent institutions are always sacrificed when the management becomes an object of contention. [N. Y. Com. Adv.]

From the Albany Daily Advertiser of May 1.
A quantity of silver plate, consisting of a coffee pot, tea pot, sugar pot, table spoons, tea spoons, &c. stolen from the family of the late Mr. Thomas Shipbory of this city, forty-four years ago, viz. in the year 1778, were, a few days since, found by a person, while ploughing up a new field on the hill west of this city—and not materially injured though it had remained for nearly half a century buried in the earth. Only one of Mr. Shipbory's family is now living, Mrs. Visscher, wife of Col. Solomon Visscher, of this city.

The Evening Post.

PHILADELPHIA.

Saturday, May 4, 1892.

The brig James Lawrence, Capt. Bangs, arrived at this port from Lagaira, bringing details of the proceedings of the two contending armies in that quarter, which are contained in the first number of a weekly paper, called the "El Anglo Colombiano," published at Caracas, in Spanish and English. It might be expected these accounts contain the success of the Patriot troops, whose valor and intrepidity have nearly subdued the contest, and a possibility is entertained that Morales, who has been beaten, beaten vagabonds, based on all sides by the same troops who defeated the last Spanish army on the field of Carabobo, will be compelled in a short time to fly the coast.

From Lagaira.—The news of the President's message and the vote of the House of Representatives in favor of the acknowledgment of the Independence of Spanish America, had reached Lagaira and was received with much joy. Porto Cavello was declared by the patriots to be in a state of blockade. Two brigades and four schrons were nearly ready to sail from Lagaira, under the command of Commodore Borca to blockade Porto Cavello.

Commodore Daniels had arrived at Lagaira from Baltimore, was appointed Venezuelan Admiral, and was talked of as likely to blockade Porto Cavello, against which place Gen. Paz, was about to advance from Valencia with a land army.

Quito.—By a letter from the Vice-President of the Republic to the Editor of the Maracaybo Gazette, it appears that on the 15th of December, the President marched from Bogota for Popayan to open the campaign of Quito, with a formidable army. The war of Quito is in fact a Bagatelle. It is extremely doubtful if the Spaniards will even think of resistance in the present state of South America. An Armistice for 90 days is already stated to have been concluded on the 22d. of November, between Gen. Sucre and Colonel Tolre; the latter proposing to send three Officers to obtain information of the state of Peru, the Isthmus, Carthage, and Spain, on which report the Spanish government of Quito might frame its interior proceedings. Rumours are confidently circulated that advances have been received from Spain via Gibraltar, of the intentions of that country to recognize the Independence of Colombia. The liberal and decided policy of the Court of Portugal, with the steps already taken in the chamber of Representatives of the United States, and the British Parliament, together with the strong feeling now general in Europe, in support of this measure, incline us to believe that if an iota of common sense be mingled in the Councils of Spain, she will hasten to avail herself of the few advantages she still possesses to treat with Colombia on more than equal terms of commercial profit.—We protest, however, against paying too dearly for a recognition it will soon be ridiculous as it is already fruitless to withhold.

The Ship Gen. Wade Hampton, Capt. Baker, arrived at this port, yesterday, in four days from Charleston—having a remarkable short run of only thirteen days from the time of her departure from our wharves until her return, during four of which she lay in harbour.

It is said that the author of the Spy, has received two thousand dollars profit from two editions of his very popular novel.

OVER AND TERMINER, APRIL 23. COMMUNICATED. Robbery. The defendants were young men, one about 18, and the other 25 years of age. It appeared in evidence that they came to the house of Mr. Zeltzer, who resides between Frankfort and Germantown. After conversing with Mr. Z. they complained of being cold, and were invited into the house to warm themselves. They remained there conversing with the family, until dinner was prepared, of which they were invited to partake. Mr. Zeltzer spoke of his intention to go to church in the afternoon, which he did very soon after the defendants had left the house, and four of the children were sent to Sunday school, leaving Mrs. Zeltzer, with an infant at home. In the afternoon, the defendants, who had been received so kindly in the morning, returned.

They entered the house and demanded money; one of them drew a pistol, which he presented at the lady, while the other searched the house, and finding nothing else of value, they stole a silver watch, and decamped. Pursuit was immediately made, and they were apprehended very soon after the commission of the crime. Upon examining the pistol, it was found to be very heavily loaded with slugs.

Commonwealth vs. Antonio Laviades—May 2. Upon the prisoner being arraigned for the murder of John McGuire, he claimed a Jury de medietate lingue, under the Statute of 28 Edward 3. After full argument by Messrs. Murray and King for the prisoner, and Mr. Kittera for the commonwealth, the Court held the matter under advisement until next morning, when they decided that the Statute extended to this country, and was still in force, and ordered the Sheriff to summon as many aliens as would enable a panel to be formed, half citizens and half aliens.

A discourse will be delivered on Sunday afternoon, by the Rev. Bishop White, at the Assembly of the Indigent Widows and Single Women's Society, in Cherry street between Schuylkill Fifth and Sixth streets, and a collection taken for the benefit of the Institution.

Local Affairs. It is in contemplation by the Merchants of Philadelphia, if sufficient funds can be collected to warrant the undertaking, to adorn our city by the erection of a hand-sun and permanent Exchange. The sum of 70,000 dollars will be immediately subscribed by four or five individuals, provided it is built on the public lot adjoining the Draw-bridge.

A daughter of Mr. Fry, publisher of the National Gazette, between four and five years old, was run over by a dray, on Saturday last, while crossing the street, and almost immediately expired.

An amicable adjustment of the differences in the congregation of St. Mary's, we are inclined to believe, may be very shortly expected. Umpires have been selected, consisting of three gentlemen not connected with the Catholic church, to whom all matters in controversy will be submitted, and their decision is to be considered binding on either party.

Large supplies of Wool intended for the interior of the state, are now on their way from this city. The vast consumption of this article, throughout the Union, indicates the growing popularity of American fabrics, which will in time supersede the demand that now exists for foreign importations.

Judicial Decision.—Under the late act of Assembly of this state, requiring retailers of foreign merchandise to take out licenses, which act, not being perfectly clear in its provisions, a collision arose between the Treasurer of the city of Philadelphia, and the Treasurer of the same county, each party claiming the right of issuing licenses under the said law. The Supreme Court of this state, on the 27th instant, after an impartial hearing of the different arguments of the counsel employed by the parties concerned, decided that the Treasurer of the city of Philadelphia was authorized to grant licenses to persons residing within the bounds of the said city.

Local Affairs.

It is in contemplation by the Merchants of Philadelphia, if sufficient funds can be collected to warrant the undertaking, to adorn our city by the erection of a hand-sun and permanent Exchange. The sum of 70,000 dollars will be immediately subscribed by four or five individuals, provided it is built on the public lot adjoining the Draw-bridge.

A daughter of Mr. Fry, publisher of the National Gazette, between four and five years old, was run over by a dray, on Saturday last, while crossing the street, and almost immediately expired.

An amicable adjustment of the differences in the congregation of St. Mary's, we are inclined to believe, may be very shortly expected. Umpires have been selected, consisting of three gentlemen not connected with the Catholic church, to whom all matters in controversy will be submitted, and their decision is to be considered binding on either party.

Large supplies of Wool intended for the interior of the state, are now on their way from this city. The vast consumption of this article, throughout the Union, indicates the growing popularity of American fabrics, which will in time supersede the demand that now exists for foreign importations.

Judicial Decision.—Under the late act of Assembly of this state, requiring retailers of foreign merchandise to take out licenses, which act, not being perfectly clear in its provisions, a collision arose between the Treasurer of the city of Philadelphia, and the Treasurer of the same county, each party claiming the right of issuing licenses under the said law. The Supreme Court of this state, on the 27th instant, after an impartial hearing of the different arguments of the counsel employed by the parties concerned, decided that the Treasurer of the city of Philadelphia was authorized to grant licenses to persons residing within the bounds of the said city.

The poor rates for the city and county of Philadelphia, a few years past, amounted to one hundred and eighty thousand dollars, per annum.—Within the last twelve months they have decreased more than one third. This pleasing result is in part owing to the progress of different manufacturing in our vicinity, where a number of children are constantly employed.

Several persons have been detected during the week, in passing counterfeit notes. A belief is prevalent, occasioned possibly by the quantity in circulation, that a large supply has been smuggled into our city, from Canada. Look out!

After an investigation of five hours, on Monday last, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, upon the fullest and clearest evidence, William Gross was duly convicted of the murder of Keziah Stow.—He was accordingly sent back to prison, to await the sentence of the law, which will be delivered at the close of the present session.

Dr. Robert Eglesfeld Griffith, jun. is elected one of the Physicians to the Society of "The Sons of St. George," established in this city for the Advice and Assistance of Englishmen in Distress, in the place of Dr. Edward Barton, deceased.

An alarm of fire took place early on Wednesday morning, which proceeded from a house in Twelfth near Filbert. The curtains of the bed where the occupant, a widow lady, was reposing, accidentally took fire, and in one moment was enveloped in flames—she with difficulty escaped, her hands being much burned. The damage sustained was trifling in comparison with the danger which was to be apprehended.

Gov. Hiester visited our city during the week, and has put up at the Rotterdam Hotel, in Fourth street.

In the brig Ontario, arrived on Tuesday morning from Monte Video, came passenger Wm. G. Miller, jr. Esq. of this city, Consul at that port.

Mr. C. S. Rafinesque says that he has discovered within the last four years, about 25 new genera, and above 100 new species of plants, in the state of Kentucky, chiefly among the hills, knobs, barrens, cliffs and bottoms at a distance from Lexington.

Illinois.—Salt water, in great abundance, has been discovered in Illinois, and it is computed that fifty gallons of it will yield one bushel of salt. Preparations were making to erect extensive works, and at those already erected it is sold at fifty cents per bushel. A rock is penetrated as at Ken-hawa, &c. in this instance, to the depth of 104 feet, and the salt water stands at 40 feet deep in the well. The price of salt before these works were established was 125 cents per bushel.

Lithography.—This species of printing is extensively used in Europe for copying commercial circulars. We have lately seen a letter, says the Boston Daily Advertiser, of three pages closely written, of which the lithographic printer furnished the writer in London, one hundred beautiful copies, perfect fac-similes of the original, in the space of an hour from the delivery of the copy, for the low price of 8s. 6d.

Joseph Decker, the American prophet, who stated himself to be on a holy pilgrimage, died in France, the 4th of March, of the small pox. The French people at first refused his body a christian burial, but his mission being explained, he was buried with great pomp and ceremony. Decker wore a surcoat leather girdle round his body, and travelled without shoes or hat.—His beard red and long—he measured in height six feet, and attracted much notice.

COMMUNICATION.

The spring season is opening with prospects favorable to the agriculturist, and is a season of pleasure to the gentleman of leisure, who indulges himself with an occasional short tour of pleasure. The rapid improvement of the works upon the Schuylkill, and the construction of the locks, and dams, are inducements to turn the route of the curious at least to that direction. Many romantic, convenient and accommodating places of public entertainment, affording innumerable species of refreshments, are to be found on each bank of that meandering stream. There is one to which we would particularly direct the attention of those who occasionally amuse themselves with a jaunt of that kind, which abounds in all varieties of luxuries, and is situated in the most rural position on the river.—We refer to the house of Mr. Carter near the falls, on the opposite side. The host is of a very accommodating and hospitable disposition, and his viands are not inferior to those of any other establishment in the country.

We had the pleasure of witnessing the debut of a young gentleman, on Saturday evening last, in the very arduous character of Rolis, at the Prime Street Theatre. The boldness of the first appearance has, we believe few parallels in the annals of theatrical competition; and what is still more creditable, it was sustained in a manner that did honour to the performer, and gave liberal promise of talent and acquirement in the very important province of histrionic labours. He was at first received by bursts of animating applause, and the whole business of the piece elicited that capacity for action and utterance as fully justified those manifestations of public commendation that were so liberally bestowed.

The falling of the curtain on the last act was the signal for the most enthusiastic expressions of applause; and the general approbation of the house was expressed in a manner that could not but be highly gratifying to the feelings of the young novice.

We are pleased at the opportunity afforded us of paying our tribute to these emanations of genius, and though we have occasion sometimes to deplore the want of patronage which is indisputably due to the first efforts of mind, we hope in the present instance to see our anticipations answered by again beholding the mirror of nature held up to our view, by this promising performer, in a manner that will call forth the heartfelt and willing patronage of the liberal of all classes of the community.

DRAMATIC SUMMARY.

Mr. Wallace has already so far recovered as to contemplate performing in New York on Monday evening next. He takes his departure for England on the 10th inst. and, if the use of the Walnut street theatre can be obtained, will favour our citizens, for one night, with a selection of his choice Readings and Recitations.

PRIME STREET THEATRE.—Mr. Porter, a young gentleman to whose talent the public have given many attestations, takes a benefit this evening. The entertainments which he proposes to offer to his patrons are composed of the new play of Montezuma; or Who's the Traitor? and the Forty Thieves. The first piece is written by Mr. Stone, of this theatre, and is made up with considerable ingenuity, and Mrs. Riddle sustains the Countess Doring, in a style not inferior to that which characterizes her general performance, and which gives great assistance to the establishment of the reputation of the play. Some accession of performers is making at this theatre, among them we perceive the names of Mrs. Allen the vocalist, and Mrs. Jacobs, formerly of Chestnut street. Miss Eberly, a young lady of eleven years of age, attempted the difficult echo song, and with unexpected success. Mr. Utt, the prompter of this theatre, proposes the tuition of the art of fencing, in which accomplishment he is said to be greatly skilled. On Monday Mr. Hutton repeats his appeal to his dramatic friends, and offers them the Tragedy of Brutus, with other entertainments. The Tragedy is by our own young countryman, Mr. Payne.

READING.—The theatre closed on Saturday last, with the comedy of the Soldier's Daughter, and the farce of the Turnpike Gate, for the benefit of Mr. Herbert.

CHARLESTON.—Mr. Wilson made his third appearance on the 3d ult. as Pull in the farce of the Crime.

BALTIMORE.—The new drama of the Spy was performed on Wednesday evening, with the appearance of Miss in her teens. Last evening, the comedy called Love makes a Man, or the Pops Fortune, and the drama of the Wandering Boys, were announced for representation. Monsieur Labasse and Tatin are engaged, and will shortly make their appearance.

NEW YORK.—The comedy of the Rivals—the pages of the Coroner, or the Victim of Seduction, from the French by J. Howard Payne, Esq. for the first time in this country, where the performances on Thursday eve.

The theatre was very crowded on Saturday evening last, in consequence of the benefit of Mr. Judah, the author of the Rose of Arragon.

Mr. West's company of equestrians are performing with the good fortune of the most unlimited patronage. The immense expense of his establishment, and the indefatigable labour which he puts in requisition demand the most ample remuneration, and the reward of an enlightened public should be liberally bestowed.

BOSTON.—The theatre was to close for the season on Monday last, with the Pirate, dramatised from the novel of that name, and the pit comedy of the Maid of the Oaks, for the benefit of Mrs. Powell—but because of the inauguration of the Mayor it was opened on the 1st inst. for one night only, with the reputation of the Pirate, and the farce of Modern Antiques, intended for Mr. Brown's benefit.

LOUISVILLE, (Ky.)—Mr. Cooper arrived here on the 12th inst. and was engaged by the managers of the theatre for a few nights. He performed Othello on the 13th—the demand for boxes was so great, that they were set up at public auction, 10 seats to a box, and some of them sold as high as $35.

CINCINNATI.—Messrs. Collins and Jones are making arrangements with Mr. Cooper, and will open the theatre about the 1st of May, when the lovers of the drama will have a treat superior to any enjoyed in the western country.

FOREIGN.—Mr. Egan lately performed at Denry Lane, in the character of Sir Pertinax Mac Sycophant in Macklin's comedy of the Man of the World, for the first time. Opinions were much divided upon the performance.

Mr. Charles Kemble has once more introduced him to the audience at Covent Garden. He performed Charles, in the School for Scandal, and was received with great applause. He came to the front of the stage, and bowed round the house in return to this sincere and universal welcome.

At the anniversary dinner of the Drury Lane Theatrical Fund, held at Freemason's Tavern, his royal highness the Duke of York was in the chair, supported by his excellency the Spanish Ambassador on the right, and on the left by the Earl of Yarmouth. The company were extremely numerous, and comprised amongst them several other noblemen and gentlemen of distinction. When "Prosperity to Drury Lane Theatrical Fund" was drunk, Mr. Keen, as Master of the Corporation, returned thanks in a speech of considerable length, in which he complimented the royal President, and other benefactors of the Charity.

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully tenders his thanks for the patronage which has been bestowed upon him, and apprizes his friends and the public that his establishment has recently been improved, and augmented to an extent which enables him to supply the calls of his customers at the most immediate notice. His carriages are not only fitted up in an elegant manner, but constructed and furnished so as to be at once comfortable and commodious—his principal care having been to accommodate them to the several seasons of the year. In the selection of his coachmen he has been particularly careful, that they should be sober and skilful, and that their appearance should correspond with the equipage. Despatch, diligence and attention, will be constantly given to those who honour him with their commands. The circumstances of his stable being very extensive, he is willing to receive Horses at Levee.

He has provided his establishment with a very elegant HEARSE FOR FUNERALS, with Horses and Furniture corresponding with the Vehicle and its purpose.

THE OLIO.

"Variety is the very spice of life,
That gives it all its flavor."

Epigram.—On a man of the name of Treble being apprehended for picking pockets:—

Treble with London pick-pockets, they say,
Has long time held the fear of his way;
If this be true, and can be prov'd the case,
Then Treble's fear has been thorough base.

Mr. Amner going through a street in Windsor, two boys looked out of a one pair of stairs window, and cried, "there goes Mr. Amner, that makes so many bulls." He hearing them, looked up. "You rascals, (said he,) I know you well enough, and if I had you here, I'd kick you down stairs."

A lawyer once jeeringly asked a Quaker, if he could tell the difference between also and therefore.—"O, yes," said the Quaker, "Erskine is a great lawyer; his talents are admired by every one; you are a lawyer also but not like Erskine."

Shakespeare and Burbage.—Burbage was the original performer of Richard III. One evening when that play was to be acted, Shakespeare observed a young woman delivering a message to Burbage in so cautious a manner as excited his curiosity to know it. He inquired, that her master was gone out of town that morning, and her mistress would be glad of his company after the play, and to know what signal he would appoint for admittance. Burbage replied, "Three taps at the door, and it is I, Richard the Third." She immediately withdrew, and Shakespeare followed until he observed her to go into a house in the city, and enquiring in the neighbourhood, he was informed that a young lady lived there, the favourite of an old rich merchant. Near the appointed time of meeting, Shakespeare thought proper to anticipate the signal. The lady was very much surprised at Shakespeare's presuming to act Mr. Burbage's part; but as he (who had written Romeo and Juliet) was so well known, she did not want wit or eloquence to apologise for the intrusion, as was soon pacified, and they were mutually happy till Burbage came to the door, and repeated the same signal; but Shakespeare, supposing his head out of the window had been gone, for that William the Conqueror had reigned before Richard III.

Albino's Cate.—The summer after Cato was performed, some of the most eminent comedians thought it successful run would authorize a burlesque, and accordingly they employed one of the would-be-wits for that purpose. This they performed in a town near London; Norris was Cato, and Penckman John; a few lines of the first speech will be a sufficient specimen of the whole.

Portia.—It is indeed a dark cloudy morning,
You Ase's heavy portends approaching rain;
The clouds big-bellied, teem with drizzly showers,
To wail the fate of Rome, our mother city
And Cato too, our old dejected dad.

Anecdote of Alcibiades.—This celebrated Grecian statesman and general had a very handsome dog, of prodigious size, which had cost him 70 minae (about 710 American dollars) and one day caused his fall, which was his greatest beauty, to be cut off. His friends censured him very much on this account, and said the whole city blamed him exceedingly for spoiling the beauty of so very handsome a creature.—"This is the very thing I wanted," says he with a smile, "I would have the Athenians discourse about what I have done to my dog that they may not entertain themselves with saying worse things about me."

A Whimsical Disappointment.—A country fellow left his native village lately, and touched with a taint of loyal curiosity, journeyed to Brighton, for the purpose of gazing at his majesty George IV. On his return home, his wife asked him, "What a King was looks?"—"Loikes?" cries his wife, "why, I never was so cheated in my life; does not thou know, Margaret? His arms are loike thine and mine; for aw I've heard over exorcismen say, a score of times, his arms wur a lion on a unicorn!"

Borrowing Newspapers.—From the complaints in the newspapers, it would seem that this unhandsome practice is becoming every day more fashionable. There are few little vexations in life more annoying than to have "Mrs. Troublesome's compliments" close upon the heels of the newspaper, with a request "that Mr. Sensible would favour her with the evening's paper." A request so small cannot be refused without giving offence; and the consequences, that many persons who take papers are obliged to defer reading them until their neighbors have all satisfied their curiosity; for Mrs. Troublesome has no sooner done with the paper than Mr. Meddlesome stands ready to intercept it on its way home, and thus it goes the rounds of the neighborhood.

Mexican Coat of Arms.—The Junta of the new State of Mexico, has decreed, that the Arms of the Empire, for all sorts of Seals, shall be the Naval Tree, (the Coccolal fig-tree) growing from a rocky field, near a lake; on the left of the hill, an Eagle, with an imperial Crown. The national flag and the colours of the army are to be tri-coloured, always adopting green, white and carnation, in vertical stripes, and displaying, in white, an Eagle crowned.

Agricultural.

Turnips.—To prevent the fy from destroying turnips always choose a piece of poor land for your turnip patch, plough and harrow it until you get it very fine, then manure it well with ashes or well rotted stable manure; sow your turnip seed with Indian meal, that you may see whether you sow it too thick or too thin, then harrow in the seed with an iron tooth harrow, be not afraid of putting them in too deep—if you bush them in, they are scarcely covered, they are up before the root has taken any hold, and lying on the surface of the ground, they nearly all perish the first dry spell that follows after their coming up, and you find a very convenient, without further enquiry, to cre out—Oh! the detestable fy has eat up all my turnips; but choose poor land, and make it fine and rich, and sower your seed deep and the fy will fly away to your neighbour—The advice here given rests upon the authority and practice of an experienced cultivator, who has not missed a crop of turnips for thirty years—over the common turnip sow between the 20th and the last day of July. If you want them earlier, a week or ten days later will make them so. American Farmer.

Turkeys.—Most of our housewives, says a Swedish author of husbandry, have long despaired of success in rearing turkeys, and complained that the profit rarely indemnified them for their trouble and loss of time:—whereas says he, little more is to be done than to plunge the chick into a vessel of cold water, the very hour, or if that cannot be done, the day it is hatched, forcing it to swallow one whole pepper corn, and then restoring it to its mother. From that time it will become hardy and fear the cold no more than a hen's chick. After which it must be remembered that these useful creatures are subject to one particular malady whilst they are young, which carries them off in a few days.—When they begin to droop, examine carefully the feathers on their rump, and you will find two or three, whose quill part is filled with blood. Upon drawing these the chick recovers, and after that requires no other care than what is commonly bestowed on poultry that range in the court yard. These articles are too true to be denied, and in proof of the success, three parishes in Sweden have, for many years gained several hundred pounds by rearing and selling Turkeys.

Of all the passions jealousy is that which excites the hardest service, and pays the bitterest wages. Its service is—to watch the success of our enemy; its wages—to be sure of it.
